NMTSS ANNOUNCEMENT

LOCAL SEMINAR

CONNIE LAIRE

A few short years ago, I was a single parent struggling to raise two teenage kids on a very limited income as a United Airlines flight attendant. The airline industry used to offer some semblance of income security before undergoing gross mismanagement and disasters like 9/11.

As the industry eroded, so did my earning power. I became so financially compromised that I was even forced to put my modest house payments on an endless string of credit cards that I couldn't pay off, and I desperately sought to increase my income by attempting a variety of business ventures.

I made my decision to develop my UnFranchise® Business because there was practically no risk, and the company provided a blueprint, cookie-cutter system that guarantees success if one simply commits to following it. I now enjoy an ongoing six-figure income. I am able to choose who I would like to work with, and I am secure in the knowledge that Market America is a rock-solid, debt-free company based on integrity with a track record to prove it.
